

Corbu Spa & Salon Debuts MySkin Skincare System

September 27, 2011

Heather Mikesell, American Spa Magazine

Categories: Editors' Perspective, Skincare, New on the Scene, Travelblog

Share / Save f t g+ d

About a week ago, I had the opportunity to visit Corbu Spa & Salon at The Charles Hotel (Cambridge, MA). It was my first trip to Boston, and I was excited to check out the newly opened spa. What I found especially interesting was the new mySkin skincare system that the spa is introducing. Developed by Harvard Business School grads Sava Marinkovich and Rahul Mehendale, it utilizes scientific principles and highly sophisticated algorithms to analyze the skin and determine the perfect products to treat each unique skin type. While there, I was able to have my skin analyzed and was impressed by the results. Look for more on Corbu Spa and the mySkin skincare system in an upcoming issue.

Heather Mikesell, American Spa Magazine

RECENT BLOG POSTS

Miraval Announces Plans for an East Coast Location

Time for a Spring Facebook Clean?

A Local Deal With Appeal for the Budget-Conscious

Osmosis Day Spa's Summer Garden Program Begins

Massage Envy Named to 2013 Military Friendly Franchises List

Aura Cacia Sings the Praises of Geranium in its Choose Calm Campaign

PBA Accepting Donations for Professionals Affected by Midwest Tornadoes

Mirbeau Inn & Spa Hosts a Vino and Vintotherapy Event with the Founder of Caudalie

6 Things You Need to Know About BRCA Mutations

What Are You Feeding Your Skin?

more